

THIRTY HOUSES ARE WRECKED

Terrific Explosion Occurred at Lowell, Mass., Today

A Score of Lives Lost In the Terrible Disaster.

Damage Done By Explosion Miles Away—Powder Magazine of the United States Cartridge Company Blew Up—It Was a Dynamite Storage Room.

Lowell, Mass., July 29.—The powder magazine of the United States Cartridge company, blew up this morning and destroyed a number of houses in the vicinity. It is reported that a large number of people were killed and injured. There is great excitement in the city and people are flocking to the scene by the thousands. The explosion occurred in the store room of the cartridge company, and its terrific force caused great havoc in surrounding property.

For the moment it is impossible to give a fairly exact estimate of the killed and wounded. First reports had it that 50 were dead and more than 100 injured, but the damage was exaggerated.

It is now said that 30 houses were destroyed and 20 lives lost in the explosion at the United States Cartridge Works.

The building in which the explosion occurred was a stone building used for the storage of dynamite. It was located at South Lowell, a mile and a half from the works of the U. S. Cartridge company, to which it belonged. The force of the explosion was terrific, being heard for many miles in all directions.

Thirty houses in the vicinity were blown down. They were used as dwelling houses.

Up to 10:30 o'clock seven bodies had been recovered from the ruins of the demolished buildings, three having been taken to the undertaking establishment of J. J. O'Connell and four to that of J. M. Weinbeck. None of them had been identified. It is believed that the number of fatalities will not exceed 20.

The explosion occurred at 9:15. Many persons were injured, but the exact number cannot be learned. They are being moved to hospitals. Many buildings in Lowell were damaged by the shock of the explosion, among them the Sacred Heart Church on Moore street, and the Wigginsville Mission chapel. The Wigginsville school house in course of erection, was badly wrecked. Along Lawrence, Church, Central, Gorham and Merrimac streets, a large number of doors and windows were blown into the streets and a number injured by broken glass.

Reports received from surrounding towns state that considerable damage was done by the explosion at points many miles from Lowell.

HOT ON TRAIL.

Eleven Escaped Convicts Headed for The Sierra Nevada Mountains and a Deadly Battle is Expected—Guards Taken Along Released

Folsom, Cal., July 29.—(Bulletin)—The released guards who returned to the prison last night, report that convict Joe Allison was wounded in the Pilot Hill fight, and blew his brains out to avoid capture. The body was found by the posse.

Great excitement prevailed at Georgetown last night when word came that the convicts were headed in that direction to raid the place. All the men took to arms and stood guard all night. Before daybreak the posse reinforced the town.

Sacramento, July 29.—Convict "Red Shirt" Gordon, who left his companions, was seen near here last night. He said he would kill Judge Hart, who sentenced him to life and was willing to hang for it. The judge is under police protection.

Placerville, Cal., July 29.—Armed bodies of grim and determined men are hot on the trail of the desperate convicts who broke from the state penitentiary and it is believed that capture or death are not many hours off.

Joe Murphy, who was serving a 14-year sentence for robbery, was shot dead at Pilot Hill. S. M. Gordon, the reported leader of the gang, who had been sentenced to 45 years for robbery, deserted his followers soon after they left the prison. He was heavily armed, and it is not known in which direction he sought safety.

The 11 outlaws who remain together are making for the Sierra Nevada mountains.

They are closely pursued by the sheriffs for Sacramento, Eldorado and Placer counties, each backed by numerous deputies and assisted by a company of militia.

About 20 guards from the Folsom prison are also engaged in the chase. It is believed that the fugitives will soon be surrounded and a desperate battle is anticipated as all are heavily armed.

The work of the pursuing posse has been rendered less difficult than was anticipated by the unexpected action of the convicts who released all of the free men they held as hostages.

It is thought that this course was prompted by lack of food and ammunition.

The fight at Pilot Hill between the convicts and their pursuers seems to have been a more serious affair than at first reported.

After they had looted a provision store at Pilot Hill they were practically surrounded by the sheriffs of Sacramento and Placer counties, each commanding a strong posse.

All four horses on the convicts' wagon were shot and one of the animals was killed outright. Then the outlaws raised a white flag and marched up the road with the guards and others whom they had captured on each side of them.

Scotch Harvest Fails.

Glasgow, July 29.—The Scotch harvest this year will prove an almost total failure. This year's yield has been the lowest in 20 years and the farmers will lose in the aggregate $3,000,000. As a result the demand for American grain and cattle will doubtless exceed all records.

COLD WATER BATH GIVEN MAD DOG

New York, July 29.—Edward McDermott of No. 327 West Ninety-sixth street had an exciting experience with a mad dog. It was his own. He took it for a walk and it showed signs of going mad.

McDermott shortened the chain and held the dog at arm's length while he shouted for help.

Two men suggested that he turn cold water on the dog. McDermott carried him into a coal yard where he was placed under a hydrant. The cold water only served to make the dog worse, and McDermott was thoroughly frightened. He walked until he found Patrolman Buettner, who shot the dog. McDermott collapsed. He was soon able to walk home.

NEGRESS

Horsewhipped a Postmaster and is Arrested for Sending Obscene Letters Through the Mail.

Defiance, O., July 29.—Cora Frater, the negress who horsewhipped Postmaster Thompson has been arrested by the Federal authorities on the charge of sending an obscene letter to Mary Dunmore, of Mansfield, last May. Postoffice Inspector W. T. Fletcher of Cincinnati, is here, and ordered her arrest, which Deputy United States Marshal Wagner accomplished. She was taken before Commissioner Brough at Toledo.

The negress charges Postmaster Thompson with opening her letters to Lancaster, Ohio, and Muskegon, I. T., and upon learning that she applied for a position as teacher he wrote to the boards stating she was an improper person morally to be a teacher.

The negress became very violent when confined in the county jail, and Sheriff McCarty detected her mother in passing six morphine tablets to the girl through the bars. These were confiscated and turned over to the United States authorities. It is believed she would have committed suicide.

CRUELTY EXISTS IN AN ASYLUM

Topeka, Kans., July 29.—The asylum investigating committee has filed its report with Governor Bailey. The committee is composed of members of the legislature. The report says:

"The committee finds among the attendants careless practices in the handling of patients, that frequently amount to unwarranted force and punishment and some times to cruelty. There exists among attendants a kind of secret understanding which has the influence of restraining one attendant from informing the superintendent of misconduct and abuses on the part of other attendants toward the patients."

IT'S ALL BRITISH.

Liverpool, July 29.—The directors of the Cunard steamship company today unanimously adopted the proposed changes in the company's constitution making the concern entirely British. According to these changes no persons not a British subject can hold any position of trust or acquire any large amount of the stock of the company.

NEWARK MEN

Lose Money Through Defunct American Finance and Mortgage Company of New York.

A special telegram to the Advocate Wednesday afternoon from its New York correspondent follows: "Among letters received by Attorney H. V. Quinby, 74 Broadway, from victims of the defunct American Finance and Mortgage company, is one dated Newark, Ohio, July 24, signed Mr. J. Mullen, Chas. A. Anderson and C. M. Altregge of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway company, who say they have receipts for $450 from the defunct company."

SENTENCED TO DIE.

Danville, Va., July 29.—Will Jones, who was recently convicted of the murder of Jack E. Lee, has been sentenced to be hanged August 28. Two others were implicated with Jones in the murder of Lee and one, Arthur Wilson was hanged two months ago.

MYSTERY

AT MT. VERNON, N. Y. IS CLEARED BY CONFESSION.

"I Did It," Said Husband, "Because She Worried Me For Money"—Ebelt Admits Guilt.

Mt. Vernon, N. Y., July 29.—Martin Ebelt was held last night for the grand jury for the murder of his wife, Augusta, whose body was found in a sewer on Sunday. He confessed freely and without the least tremor or seeming fear. Ebelt was examined by the coroner and Chief Foley and was then led to the morgue, where lay the body of the murdered woman. Ebelt gazed upon the corpse with an indifferent air and admitted that it was that of his wife. In response to further questions, he suddenly exclaimed:

"Oh, I did it." After this admission he went on to say that he had been worried by her demands for money and had decided to get rid of her.

When the inquest was resumed in the evening he said that a week before he had noted the break in the sewer pipe which he calculated would serve him to hide the body. He then prepared the way for the murder by telling his wife he had found a place for her to work, and requested her to get ready and he would take her to the place.

On the way, he said, they quarreled, and after choking the woman to death with his hands, he tied a shoestring around her neck and lowered the body into the sewer, expecting that it would be swept down the sewer.

The confession was signed by the prisoner, who was then formally committed.

FUNERAL

Of the Man Whose Murder Caused the Danville Lynching Attended by Many People.

Danville, Ill., July 29.—Henry Catterman, whose murder caused the Danville lynching had the largest funeral ever held in Danville. The cortege, headed by a band went miles out of its way to parade the principal streets. There was much excitement in the city over an alleged murder of a white man by a negro at Westville, six miles south of here, but the report proved to be an exaggeration of a free fight between four foreign miners.

Troops will not be ordered away from Danville until it is certain that the trouble is over.

RENEWAL

Of Race War at Evansville Was Met by the Antics of a Mob of Boys.

Evansville, Ind., July 28.—Another race war was threatened in Evansville for a short time. A gang of white boys and youths went to Baptist town and several other suburbs and stoned the houses of the negroes with rocks and bowlders. No one was seriously hurt. Monroe Growder, a colored boy, informed the police that he was attacked by the crowd, but escaped them. So far as is known none of the mob carried arms.

Detectives have arrested John Alvis, aged 21, and William Wilson, aged 19, who are alleged to have been members of the mob. The feeling against the colored people here has been growing more intense since the race riots. Reports reached the police station that several houses occupied by colored people had been stoned and the windows broken. Reports from Danville, Ill., are still passing through here.

RELIANCE SELECTED.

Newport, R. I., July 29.—The Reliance has been selected to defend the American's cup against the S. Rock III. There will be no more races.

Mason Smith of Upper Sandusky, reports a wheat yield of 31.3-8 bushels to the acre.

John Elmfieldt, 19, was drowned at Hamilton, O., while bathing.

Mrs. George Axx, the wife of a well known New Philadelphia man is dead.

WILL PAY $5,000 FOR SINGLE FLEA

New York, July 29.—There is a fine opportunity now for some flea hunter to earn a snug sum with which to provide for the proverbial rainy day.

Should he find an Arctic fox flea, in his search for the elusive and elusive insect that so often disturbs his chain of thought, and turn the same, in perfect condition, of course, over to the Hon. Charles Rothschild of London, he will be given $5,000.

So much in earnest is the collector in the matter of the flea hunt that he commissioned the Arctic whaler, Forset-McNot, to hunt for the Polar flea. This hunt was futile, hence the offer of a $5,000 reward for the much desired insect.

SENATOR

Must Stand Trial at Jefferson City on the Charge of Bribery—Demurrer Overruled.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 29.—Judge Hazell overruled the demurrer in the case against State Senator Frank Farris, charged with accepting a bribe of $1,000 from Lieut. Governor John A. Lee, and called the case for trial.

Morton Jordan, attorney for Farris, immediately filed a plea of abatement and a recess was taken to give Attorney General Crow time to prepare a reply.

The contention of the plea was that Attorney General Crow had no right to be in the grand jury room during the investigation resulting in the indictment.

Senators Farris Sullivan and Smith were present when court opened. Senator Matthews, the fourth indicted legislator, came in a few minutes later. Senator Costello was also present.

Neither ex-Lieut. Gov. Lee nor Mrs. D. J. Kelley, star witnesses, respectively for state and defense, were present when court was called.

Attorney General Crow and Prosecuting Attorney R. P. Stone, represent the state and Morton Jordan and W. S. Pope the defense.

MINISTER'S GIRL IN AN ELOPEMENT

Hamilton, O., July 29.—Miss Minnie Grennan, youngest daughter of Rev. L. E. Grennan a Methodist minister of Oxford, left her home yesterday, saying she intended to go to the Miami Valley Chautauqua near Franklin.

Instead, she left the train at Hamilton and was joined by John Robertson, a shoe merchant of Oxford, who was until recently a student of Miami university. The couple went to the parsonage of Christ church, where the Rev. George Black married them. Mrs. Robertson then telephoned the fact to her parents at Oxford.

ABDUCTION THE CHARGE.

Guthrie, Okla., July 29.—Rev. Mr. Posey, charged with the abduction of Miss Josephine Shelton, aged 18, at Cook, Okla., has been held for the grand jury under $1,000 bond as a result of a preliminary hearing at El Reno. Posey is 70 years and the father of 18 children.

PROF. CROUCH

The Father of Twenty-Seven Children. His Widow is Now Dying From Consumption.

Baltimore, Md., July 29.—Mrs. Katherine Martha Crouch, widow of Prof. Frederick W. H. Crouch, author of "Kathleen Mavourneen," is critically ill with consumption in her home in this city.

Mrs. Crouch was Miss Martha Vaughn prior to her marriage to Prof. Crouch 39 years ago. She is a member of the Vaughn family of Virginia.

Prof. Crouch and his bride came to Baltimore soon after their marriage. He was then 70 years old. Five children were born to them, making Prof. Crouch the father of 27 children, he having been married four times.

Illinois Cyclone.

Chicago, Ill., July 29.—Lemont, Ill. was struck by a cyclone between 11 o'clock last night and midnight. A number of buildings were swept away,

HIGH REQUIEM MASS FOR LEO

Italians Observe Anniversary of Humbert's Death

Possibly a Pope Will Be Elected By Sunday

Vannutelli Gets Cell No. 13--Cardinal Gotti Seems Favored--Cardinals Pledged to Secrecy--The Arrangements for Meeting of Cardinals.

Rome, July 29.—The second of the high requiem masses for the late Pope Leo XIII. was celebrated in the Sistine chapel today. The key and Prince Chigi, as hereditary guardian of the conclave, the other. The prince will remain on the outside. Even the arches of the Rafael Loggia will be filled in so nobody can see the cardinals passing. Instead of the narrow cells of the middle ages, most of the cardinals will have a suite of three comfortable rooms. Lots for the cells were drawn yesterday. Cardinal Vannutelli getting cell No. 13. Ecclesiastical authorities hope the Pope will be elected by Sunday, which is the feast of the pardon of St. Francis when the highest indulgences are given.

It will also be the feast of St. Dominick, whose arms show a dog with a burning torch, which seems to fulfill the prophecy of Malachi that such would be the emblem of the next pope. The flaming torch is part of Cardinal Gotti's coat of arms and many see in this coincidence another indication in that Cardinal's favor. All the churches are celebrating masses today.

Cardinal Oreglia will take the oath of each that he will not betray the secrets of the conclave.

The arrangements for the conclave are nearly completed. The cardinals will occupy practically the whole first floor of the Vatican, all the exits of which will be closed by brick walls.

ALARMIST

Views of Eastern Situation Depreciated, But No Doubt the Dispute is Serious.

Birmingham, July 29.—The Post in an editorial on the reported imminence of trouble between Russia and Japan today says that while the alarmists view regarding the situation are to be deprecated there is no doubt that the dispute between Russia and Japan is regarded with considerable concern in official quarters. The paper adds:

"Perhaps not the least interesting feature is that the British and French governments are combining to prevent the outbreak of hostilities. Almost identical representations have been made to Russia and Japan by France and Britain, four couriers having passed between France and England since Saturday."

Wireless Telegraphy.

Boston, Mass., July 29.—"Wonderful are the possibilities of the wireless system in every way," said Secretary Moody, in indicating that the navy will be able to get a system that will reach to United States, warships across the Atlantic, and the United States, on the Atlantic or Pacific Coast, can be protected from surprise by the equipment of the murdered family said: "I do not believe the governor will commute the sentence. If he does Batson will not get out of Lake Charles alive. I know even anything but the most simple apparatus is made unnecessary. The apparatus at the foreign legations are all under orders to investigate the matter for the government."

According to the bureau's plan not only will there be a mad ocean and cross ocean wireless service but every main power house of firemen, oilers and water tenders who want an eight hour day and recognition of the union. There is no power for cars and this affects the suburban lines also.

Why this wireless telegraphy is only in its infancy now," the secretary said enthusiastically.

A money stringency is predicted when crop moving time comes. The government printing office may become an open shop.

JETT-WHITE TRIAL.

Lexington, Ky., July 29.—Sam Little is here, enroute to Cythiana, as a witness for the commonwealth against Curtis Jett and Tom White. Little, it is alleged, saw not only the last shot, fired into Attorney J. B. Marcum, but both shots and noted the movements of Jett and White before and after the assassination. He has been in hiding and was located Tuesday in the country near Jackson. Another important witness for the prosecution is James Freeman, who captured as a witness at the first trial was thwarted by a friend going with detail and firing warning shots as Freeman's house was reached. Deputy Sheriff Ashbury Spicer, who was arrested on a warrant sworn out by McKinley Cockrill, for the murder of town marshal Jim Cockrill, has been summoned by the defense.

May Lynch Batson.

New Orleans, La., July 29.—Dispatches from Lake Charles, La., state that considerable excitement prevails there over the news that the board of pardons commuted sentence of A. E. Batson, under death sentence for murder of six members of the Earl family. Batson, a native of Missouri, had two trials and was convicted on circumstantial evidence. Fred Earl one of the survivors of the murdered family said: "I do not believe the governor will commute the sentence. If he does Batson will not get out of Lake Charles alive. I know even anything but the most simple apparatus is made unnecessary. The apparatus at the foreign legations are all under orders to investigate the matter for the government."

Street Car Strike.

Detroit, Mich., July 29.—The entire street railway system of this city is tied up as a result of a strike at the main power house of firemen, oilers and water tenders who want an eight hour day and recognition of the union. There is no power for cars and this affects the suburban lines also.

English Failures.

London, July 29.—The failures of A. S. G. Graves and Co., old established brokers, and A. H. M. Kirby, a small jobber, were announced on the stock exchange today.

OHIO BOY'S JEALOUSY

The Cause of a Shooting Affray at Plymouth--Lad Attacks Rival and is Shot and Perhaps Fatally Wounded.

Mansfield, O., July 29.—As the result of an encounter prompted by a young man's jealousy, Frank Cross of Plymouth was shot and probably fatally wounded by Frank, Kubbs of Shelby.

Both young men had been courting the same young lady of Plymouth and she went out with Kubbs and another young couple in a carriage.

Upon the return of the party to Plymouth Cross was in waiting, and when the young lady was brought to her home by Kubbs, the latter was accosted by Cross, and as it is claimed, attacked him.

COULDN'T MARRY; SHE SEEKS DEATH

New York, July 29.—Because she loved hopelessly the husband of another, pretty Carrie Livingston, 18, is in the New York hospital suffering from the effects of drinking carbolic acid.

For many hours her life was despaired of. She lay, hopeless, with her face to the wall until told a man wanted to see her. A new light shone in her eyes at the news, and she said to admit him.

He was a typical business man in appearance, and seemed to be deeply grieved at the plight of the girl. What passed between them no one knew, but she was happier, and went to sleep contentedly after he left the hospital.

From the mysterious manner in which the girl concealed her identity it is evident she went to the house with the intention of committing suicide.

The hospital attaches got her to tell her name, but they refuse to disclose the details of the girl's story. To the police the men in the case revealed his identity.

He is married, and is anxious to keep secret from his family the present entanglement.

PERRYTON.

Charles Smith and A. W. Holman spent Monday in Newark.

J. F. Seward, wife and daughter, Miss Hattie, visited Judge Seward and wife Saturday and Sunday.

W. C. Seward of Newark is rusticating a few days among the blackberry patches near Perryton.

E. E. Fairall and two children of Newark, visited Mrs. Fairall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Blount, Saturday night and Sunday.

Ernest Johnson and family of Newark, were the guests of Captain H. A. and Mrs. Montgomery on Sunday.

Mrs. G. H. Brown of Brown Dale, is visiting her sick sister, Mrs. Prof. Marshall, of Muskingum College, at New Concord.

Mrs. Nellie Cullison has returned home from a week's visit with Mrs. Daniel Fleming at her home at Black Run.

Mrs. Charles Smith has returned home after an extended visit with her mother at Mt. Vernon, bringing with her a half sister, Miss Quilla Harris, a beautiful and accomplished young lady of Green Valley.

Wheeler Wright and family of West Carlisle, visited at the home of W. O. Beckham on Sunday.

C. E. Booth and family were the guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Gardner of West Carlisle, on Sunday.

Desso Colville and family of Rocky Fork, visited at the home of Harvey Piles on Sunday.

Rees Frederick and family spent Saturday at Idlewild, where they met many friends from Jackson and Glouster.

CYCLONE DESTROYS THREE VILLAGES

St. Petersburg, July 29.—A terrific cyclone has passed through the district of Tchernigof. Three villages were destroyed in a few minutes. Churches and houses were lifted bodily and carried a long distance. The loss of life was great.

The best calculation that can be made show that the average number of children to the white native family a century ago in the United States was more than six; in 1830 it had fallen to less than five; in 1860 to less than four; in 1872 to less than three; in 1900, among the "upper classes" in Boston, to less than two.

England may abolish the duty on raw molasses.

Kubbs drew a revolver, and in the scrimmage Cross was shot, the bullet entering his groin and producing a wound which doctors say may prove fatal within 24 hours, though there is a chance for him to recover.

Kubbs claims the shooting was not intentional, but that he only intended to strike Cross with the weapon.

Both young men are under 20 years of age and of good family, Kubbs being a member of the last year's High school class graduated at Shelby.

Kubbs was brought from Shelby to Plymouth for preliminary hearing.

REFUSAL TO WED CAUSES SHOOTING

New York, July 29.—In full view of hundreds of persons going to work Patrolman Cornelius Mulvey was shot and probably fatally injured on the corner of Avenue B and Seventh street while trying to prevent a soldier from shooting his sweetheart.

The soldier is Adolph Schloss, 22 years old, of the Eleventh battery field artillery, stationed at Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn.

After shooting the policeman the soldier turned the revolver on himself, but without serious damage.

His sweetheart, Louis Freedman, 18 years old, ran away, screaming.

Schloss has been in the army for two months and was on leave of absence.

The girl was found later and told the detectives that her father wished her three older sisters to marry first, and she had therefore broken her engagement with Schloss, who shot at her after she had refused to renew the engagement.

AUGUST

WHAT THE COMING MONTH HAS IN STORE.

Weather Prophet W. W. Marsh Makes a Number of Predictions—They Are Given Below.

W. W. Marsh, the weather prophet, has this to say about what is in store for the people next month:

August will be a month of intense heat and damaging storms, covering a greater portion of the entire country.

Robert Seidel, engineer, was badly scalded at Shelby yesterday.

Mrs. A. Balin, over 70, is under arrest at Napoleon, O., charged with shoplifting.

LOOKING FOR TROUBLE.

The Men and Women Who Carry Chips on Their Shoulders.

The really unhappy man whose unhappiness is his own fault is the one who is forever carrying "a chip upon his shoulder." Perhaps his unhappiness is his unhappiness, for when he is not engaged in a personal altercation he is brooding over some fancied slight and awaiting a favorable opportunity to give vent to his wrath.

The man with the chip on his shoulder is easily recognized, and his society by wise people is carefully avoided. He can go nowhere without trouble following in his wake. If he attends a theater he is either annoyed by the usher or some one in the audience or at the man in the box office for not having paid him a seat before he came. If he is the driver of the car conductor, and on the railroad train he succeeds in embroiling himself in a row with the brakeman, conductor, Pullman car porter and the passengers. Each thing clings to the locomotive is aimed especially at his eyes, and he succeeds in stirring up the spirit of mutiny in the hearts of the travelers.

There are some women similarly constituted, who manage to be in trouble from the moment their eyes open in the morning till they close them in sleep. These people are indeed to be pitied, if indeed they are not cordially hated. This quarrelsome habit of mind can be so fostered that the petulance grows to be a malignant disease and leads sometimes to the insane asylum. Parents who notice in their children this fretful, quarrelsome disposition can easily find a remedy. They may not agree to the measure—supply a good, sound thrashing. Every one has heard of the story of the child who was continually whimpering and quarreling. In despair the mother cried: "Are you sick? What do you want?" Gravely the child answered, "I think, mamma, I want a whipping." She received the whipping, and there was a marked improvement in her temper.—San Francisco Post.

Perception of the Beautiful.

An instance of the Italian child's quick, poignant perception of the beautiful occurred the other day in one of the settlement libraries. A shy little maiden, with a world of dream thoughts in the depths of her dark eyes, stood by the librarian's desk waiting for Andrew Lang's "Gray Fairy Book." But when it was given into her small hands all the wealth of fairy lore between its covers was for a moment forgotten in contemplation of the cover, a dainty design in gray and silver. All thought of the story vanished. The child stood there eying the book with a look that was a caress, her hands just touching the binding, tenderly as something of fragile beauty. And then, very softly, as if to herself, she said: "I mustn't get it the least bit dirty. It's so pretty."—Everybody's Magazine.

Lytton's Good Catch.

Bulwer-Lytton was once entertaining at Knebworth a young Australian when the visitor from Melbourne, shy and clumsy, took from the mantelpiece a piece of china lately given him by his host. In another moment it would have been shivered upon the hearth. The host, from his sofa, saw what had happened, was up in an instant, stretched out his hand and caught the bowl just ere it descended on the marble. "Fie, fie, by Jove! But I save my crockery, which I would rather not have written 'Money' than have lost," cried the novelist.

The Rich Man's Plight.

I don't see what good my money does me. I can't eat. I never saw it in its entirety. I dress no better than my private secretary and have a much smaller appetite than my coachman. I live in a big barn of a house, am pestered to death by beggars, have dyspepsia, and most of my money is in the hands of others, who use it mainly for their own benefit.—New York Press.

Taste For Color.

Jim Dumps once found he must endure The pain that haunts an epicure. "Give up rich foods and try instead The well-known 'Force'—cure, sir," one said. Jim tried it. It agreed with him. The "Force"—cure made him "Sunny Jim."

THE PLAYERS.

E. S. Willard began earning his living as a baker's boy in Brighton, England.

Harold Kyrle Bellew is fifty-five years old, but the youngest looking of all the good Romeos.

Frederic De Belleville, one of the first actors on the American stage, is, like Mme. Rhea, a Belgian.

Edward H. Sothorn and Mrs. Cora Truham Potter were born in New Orleans, the actor in 1859 and the actress in 1860.

John Brougham used to call Lotta a "dramatic cocktail." It was to her that the phrase "a strawberry blond" was first applied.

In the past thirty-two years Sir Henry Irving has played forty-three parts, all of them, in their way, of the first importance.

Miss Marie Walnwright was the original Josephine in the first American performance of "Pinafore." That was twenty-five years ago.

Frederick Ward is an Oxford man—of the university, however, but of the town, for he was born there. He was intended for the law.

Benoit Constant Coquelin's father was a baker in Boulogne, and the son, born in 1841, expected until he was seventeen or eighteen years old to follow that trade.

BAND OF POSTOFFICE PLUNDERERS.

Something seems to have interfered with the purpose of choking off the Postoffice department investigation. Whether it is the obstinacy of Mr. Bristow, or another shift of policy on the part of the President, is unknown at the moment. Be the reason what it may, the inquiry seems to be going ahead with fruitfulness. On Wednesday Superintendent Charles Hedges of the free delivery system was dismissed. This person was appointed from Texas in 1898, and apparently lost little time in determining that he was not in office for his health. A Washington dispatch says inspectors are now looking into the affairs of H. H. Rand, former confidential clerk of the Postmaster General, and present assistant superintendent of the division of salaries and allowances. What if anything has been found against him is not yet announced. It is true that the fresh revelations cause little surprise so accustomed has the public become to the exposures of scandal, nevertheless there can be no question as to the deep impression which has been made on the people, prompting them to wonder if other departments are as thoroughly permeated by corruption as the one under examination. The "Republican Pittsburgh Dispatch" considers that the necessity is emphasized "for a continuation of the probing process in all directions until the department is thoroughly freed from the operations of as fearless a band of plunderers as has been partially exposed by any similar investigation in years."

SOME NORTHERN OUTRAGES.

(Pittsburg Post.)

Following in quick succession the lynchings of negroes at Belleville, Ill., Evansville, Ind., and Wilmington, Del., comes the news of the most aggravated case of race frenzy, murder and burning at the stake from Danville, Ill., the home of the prospective speaker of the House of Representatives. A negro shot dead a white man and was speedily lynched by a mob of 600, who later attacked the jail to produce another negro accused of maltreatment of a woman. The sheriff was compelled to fire into the unlawful assemblage, fatally wounding three. Three other negroes were beaten by the mob.

These exhibitions of latent murderous instinct and growing disregard of that law upon which the social fabric rests must transfer attention from the South and compel Northern communities to ponder deeply upon the course of events and immediately to demand the enforcement of strongest deterrents, not only in the way of stern punishment of the guilty, but of the inculcating of renewed respect for those principles of peace and order in which the people of the North have felt so much pride.

It is time to desist from obtruding constant advice upon the South in the matter of committing outrages upon negroes for heinous crimes against the sanctity of homes. It is time for the red-shirted orators to refrain from devising methods of curtailing Southern representation in Congress, because under statutes and constitutions upheld by the supreme court negro domination is checked, while including white men among the excluded voters.

LITTLE KNOWN

ABOUT MEN WHO ASPIRED TO VICE PRESIDENCY.

National Convention System Proper as Now Carried Out Was Originated in 1832.

Old politicians and some of the younger ones can reel off the list of Presidential nominees with as much ease as they can say the multiplication table, says the New York Sun, but only the men who make politics a daily business can name consecutively the candidates for the Vice Presidency.

The first Vice President to be nominated by a national convention was Anson Elmaker, named by the Anti-Masons' Convention in 1831. That convention however, is not ranked as a political convention in the same sense as subsequent conventions.

The national convention system proper, as it is now understood and carried out, originated in 1832, when Martin Van Buren was chosen for the second place. The call for that convention originated in New Hampshire. Only those who make politics a business recall readily that the Democratic party convention idea originated in a Northern State.

The first Vice Presidential candidate to decline a nomination was Silas Wright, of New York, who was nominated by the Democratic convention that met at Baltimore in 1844. George M. Dallas of Pennsylvania, was named in his stead.

W. O. Butler of Kentucky, was the Vice Presidential nominee of the Democratic party in 1848, and W. R. King of Alabama, was the nominee in 1852. The Democratic convention that met in Cincinnati in 1856 nominated John C. Breckinridge for Vice President.

The first Vice Presidential candidate of the present Republican party was William L. Dayton, who was on the ticket headed by Fremont in 1856. The name of the other Republican Vice Presidential candidates are readily recalled. They were: Hannibal Hamlin in 1860; Andrew Johnson, who afterward became President; Schuyler Colfax, in 1868; Henry Wilson, in 1872; W. A. Wheeler, in 1876; Chester A. Arthur, in 1880, who afterward became President, succeeding Garfield, who died in the year of his inauguration; Levi P. Morton in 1888; Whitelaw Reid, in 1892; Garret A. Hobart in 1896; Theodore Roosevelt, in 1899, who became President in 1901.

In addition to the foregoing, Vice Presidential candidates were named in 1811 by the party that nominated Clay for President; by the Free Soil party in 1852; by the American party in 1856; by the Constitutional Union party in 1860; by the Prohibition party from 1872 to 1900; by the Greenback party, afterward the National Green-

The mob spirit which now pervades the North is not political in its origin, but it is founded upon the exhaustion of patience. The immense public works and railroad improvements have brought northward the Southern negro as he is. He has been found to differ from his Northern brother, who is the descendant of parents long resident above Mason and Dixon's line. The newcomer has been quartered in a manner to make him ignorant of the regulations of cities. In his rude camp in some suburb he easily adopts the ways of the gypsy, or the constant wayfarer, unused to the orderly life of the town. But he is not immune to the seductions of the party campaigner, who still inflames him by allusions to a war that cannot be forgotten, but which is utilized only by demagogues to arouse subsided passions.

But none of this is justification for lynching. Means must be undertaken to bring back that noble subservience to the law of the land, and the peace of the vicinage, however, grievous may be the wrongs perpetrated. It must be untrue that majority of the people are in favor of ignoring courts and administering so-called justice themselves. While these mobs gathered only at long intervals and the brutal exploits were sporadic, each instance could reasonably be dismissed as the last. A mob mania now appears to have seized upon people usually of good repute. The only effectual and instant means of repression is the unrelenting punishment of participants in these medieval barbarities. Let Breathitt county Ky., have a rest.

back and then the Union Labor party from 1876 to 1888; by the People's or Populist party from 1892 to 1900; by the Silver Republican party in 1900; by the National party, afterward the Liberty party in 1896; by the Anti-Fusion party, in 1900; by the Social Democratic party, in 1900, and by the United Christian party in 1900.

The following recapitulation of Vice Presidents who became Presidents will be of interest: Democrat, Van Buren; Whig, Tyler and Fillmore, 2; Republican, Johnson, Arthur and Roosevelt, 3. Total 6. Vice President who died in office: Democrat, 1, Hendricks; Republican, 1, Garret A. Hobart.

CAPTIVATING SIMPLICITY.

The Way John Burroughs Secured a Treasury Clerkship.

Early in the sixties of the last century, when Hugh McCulloch had just been appointed comptroller of the currency to organize the new department under the provisions of the national bank act, there walked into his office, unannounced, one day a stranger dressed in "store clothes" and wearing long hair.

"My name is Burroughs—John Burroughs," said the visitor. "I should like to have a position in your department."

"What do you know about banking?" asked the comptroller, thinking that perhaps in the unique stranger might be discovered some genius of an actuary or accountant.

"Unhappily nothing," replied the applicant.

"Who sent you here?"

"No one."

"Well, who's your congressman? To whom can you refer me?"

"I know no congressman."

"And you expected to get a government position without qualification for the position and without indorsement or backing of any character?"

"I think I could learn office work here, and the salary would be a great help to me in my literary career."

"Oh, you are a writer, are you? What's your line? Poetry, perhaps?"

"I try to write poetry," confessed the visitor.

"Got any of it with you?" asked the comptroller, now considerably amused.

"If so, let's see it."

The poet-naturalist produced a song redolent of early spring. It treated of the chickadee, the oven bird and the Carolina wren, with a dainty reference to forest violets and hepatica.

"This is great," commented the comptroller; "it's right out of the woods."

"Which is more than can be said of the author," observed Mr. Burroughs, thinking of the world of finance which he was seeking to invade.

The comptroller laughed. "And is this all you have in the way of credentials?"

"I have some more poems at home," was the bland and sincere reply.

In much merriment the comptroller summoned an assistant. "Here's the most astonishing instance of ingenuity in public life," said he. "That man over there applies for a government position and the only backing that he can name are the muses. Yet this department is not political, and somehow I'm inclined to put the fellow to work. I am captivated by the man's honest simplicity."

So John Burroughs was appointed to work as a treasury clerk. No settlement ever before had been secured on such a basis and no one since has had the temerity in asking for a government job to cite song birds and wild flowers as his only references.

Some of Mr. Burroughs' old colleagues are still in the treasury service. In telling this story of his appointment they dwell with emphasis upon the excellent work he did in the department, earning rapid promotions and finally securing the responsible position of receiver for a failed national bank in New York, the affairs of which he settled satisfactorily both to the creditors and the government.—Saturday Evening Post.

His Long Sermon.

A Philadelphia clergyman used to relate the following on himself: "I preached a funeral sermon at one time and spoke on the resurrection. I am sure I spoke longer than was my custom."

"The undertaker was a man of nervous temperament, and as the afternoon was going he began to be anxious to be on the way to the cemetery. He finally whispered to one of my members, 'Does your minister always preach as long as that at a funeral?'"

"Well," said the brother, "that is a good sermon."

"Yes," said the undertaker, "the sermon is all right, and I believe in the resurrection, but I am afraid if he does not stop pretty soon I will not get this man buried in time."—Philadelphia Ledger.

She Peeked.

A gentleman told a good story on his betrothed sister. Visiting his home after a long absence, he was sitting by the side of his sister, with his arm around her waist. Her head drooped on his shoulder in the old, old way. An aunt in the same room enjoyed the affectionate display and remarked, "Why, that looks as if it might be Will!"—the name of the young lady's sweetheart. "Indeed," the sister replied, "you never saw Will in this position." "Maybe I have," said the aunt. "Well, if you did you peeked," was the parting shot, which was a practical admission of the soft impeachment.

VALUE OF MANCHURIA.

The Land of the Future, Says John Barrett.

MOST PROGRESSIVE PART OF CHINA

Increase of Population and Material Progress to Be More Noteworthy There Than Elsewhere in the Empire—Rapidly Developing Market For American Goods Assured—Why Russia Is a Formidable Competitor.

The Manufacturers' Record published recently an interview in regard to the significance of the opening of the new Manchurian ports with John Barrett, commissioner general to Asia of the Louisiana Purchase exposition. Mr. Barrett, who has recently been appointed United States minister to Argentina, was formerly United States minister to Siam and while in Asia made a careful study of the political and commercial conditions of China. He was in Manchuria in 1894, again in 1898 and last year made another visit there as the representative of the St. Louis exposition. In his statement, which he made at St. Louis, Mr. Barrett said:

"The importance of the enlarged commercial opening of Manchuria cannot be overestimated, especially in its bearing upon the market for the manufactured cotton goods of the south. Manchuria is sure to provide a rapidly developing market for all kinds of American manufactured products. It is my belief that northern China and Manchuria will always offer the best general market for American exports. It is the land of the future. It is the one portion of China where material progress and the increase of population will be more noteworthy than in any other portion of the empire."

"The present population of Manchuria, conservatively estimated, is approximately 6,000,000. It is not thickly settled, like most of the provinces of China proper. Wherever the traveler goes through Manchuria he is impressed with the opportunities for the growth of cities and towns, the improvement of the land and a general increase of population. The remarkable progress that this section has experienced during the last five years gives some idea of what will come in the future. There are cities of 25,000 population now where in 1892 there were small villages. There is no contradicting the fact that the construction of the Chinese Eastern railway has had much the same effect upon Manchuria as the building of the Northern Pacific had on the Dakotas, Montana, Oregon and Washington."

"It is interesting to note that the inhabitants of Manchuria and northern China seem not only to have taken a special liking to American cotton goods, but to have manifested a greater willingness to employ modern methods of life than the people of other portions of China. The rapid increase of the sales of cotton fabrics made largely by southern mills is proof of the popularity of these exports and a further evidence that the market for them in the future will be much greater than it is now. When I first visited Newchwang, some ten years ago, if I remember correctly the import of American goods amounted approximately to only 15 per cent of the total, as shown by the records of the imperial customs. When I went there five years later American imports had grown to nearly 60 per cent of the total. The last report by United States Consul Miller at Newchwang says that the present value of cotton goods coming through that port is $12,180,000."

"He brings out one salient point which must not be forgotten, and that is that the Russian cotton manufacturers of central and southern Russia have their eyes on this wonderful market and are going to make every effort to capture it, assisted by low rates on the Transiberian railway and on the subsidized Russian commercial steamers plying regularly between the Black sea and gulf of Pechili. It is doubtful if the Transiberian railway, with its long overland haul, can ever give permanent rates that will compete with all water transportation from New York, New Orleans or San Francisco, but there is danger in the subsidized steamship competition. It will be a long time before the mills of Russia can make goods that will equal the American product in both quality and price, but a low freight rate is always a powerful leverage. In the meantime, however, before the cotton goods of Russia can be a great factor in the market, the American article should go on increasing its field of demand and its popularity, until it obtains a hold which cannot be taken away even by less cost of transportation."

Regarding Mukden and Tungchow Mr. Barrett says that their accessibility under the head of open ports will mean much more in a few years than now.

Novel Summer Coat For Men.

This summer has witnessed many varieties of thin summer coats of wash silk, brought out for the comfort of man and intended strictly for use and not for ornament, but nothing has yet been offered in the way of a coat quite as gay as the new kimono smoking and office jackets of gauze trimmed in plain bands or fancy borders to suit the taste of the wearer, says the New York Tribune. The gauze ground of the coat is dark, varying upon shades of color that look black at first sight, and the mesh of the material is strong. These coats are trimmed in bands of various colors, the dark, plain ones intended for more public appearances and the fancy ones meant to be worn when a man lounges in his smoking den or private apartment.

TOO MUCH MEDICINE.

The system continually wronged by over-eating and over-drinking, and the debilitated condition aggravated by dosing with harsh nauseous drugs and medicines

The excessive and indiscriminate use of medicines, in these days, cannot be too strongly condemned. The food you eat if properly digested, is all the tonic you need.

Only common sense is needed. The food must be digested and the bowels must not be allowed to clog. Preserve your health by preventing these conditions.

Constipation surely leads to indigestion, biliousness, etc., and these conditions when neglected affect the condition of the blood, debilitate the system, rendering it susceptible to more serious ailments, and less able to resist such attacks.

If your stomach has been abused by over-eating, weakened by drugs or sickness, you won't have to stop eating or diet, yourself. All you need is something that will aid the stomach in its functions and relieve it from being constantly irritated by undigested food. The purest and simplest remedy for this purpose are the California Prune Wafers, a natural solvent made from the pure, fresh fruit, a general laxative and sweetener of the stomach—no other medicine is necessary.

When you are bilious, it is a sign that your liver is out of order, and the poisonous bile, instead of being excreted from the body through the intestines, is taken up in the blood. As a result of biliousness, the entire system suffers. There are gripping pains in the abdomen, headaches, dizziness, constipation, pain in the right side, and sometimes the skin becomes sallow and yellowish, rough and itchy. Take two or three California Prune Wafers after meals, and in a short time your liver will be performing its proper function, driving the bile from the system. Use nothing but California Prune Wafers—no other medicine is necessary.

CALIFORNIA PRUNE WAFERS do the work without the slightest pain, griping or nausea. They produce natural and easy movement of the bowels, are easy to take, pure and beautiful.

They are nature's own remedy, better than pill or purge, better than cathartic teas that grip and nauseate, better than anything for moving the bowels, because CALIFORNIA PRUNE WAFERS are a NATURAL DIS-SOLVENT and not a purge, acting gently and naturally on the contents of the bowels, producing easy movement. They regulate the Liver and Stomach, cleanse the System and Purify the Blood, cure all Bowel Troubles, Bad Breath, Bad Blood, Wind on the Stomach, Foul Mouth, Headache, Pimples and Dizziness, A Liver Tonic from Nature's Laboratory. 100 Wafers for 25cts.

Biliousness, Constipation, Indigestion and all Liver Troubles

100 WAFERS, 25 CENTS

YOU CAN EAT WHAT YOU PLEASE if you follow each meal with a CALIFORNIA PRUNE WAFER, which quickly dissolves the most indigestible food, and helps to carry it through and out of the system in a gentle and healthful manner, without the slightest pain, griping or nausea.

AT HOME IN COLORADO

In Colorado the days are never hot; the nights are always cool.

That is one reason why 50,000 people go there every summer, and why they stay there anywhere from two weeks to two months.

Colorado isn't far away—if you take the Rock Island. And the cost of getting there is not great. Low rates daily, June 1 to Sept. 30. Information and literature on request.

Rock Island System Phil. A. Auer, D. P. A., 415 Park Bldg., Pittsburg, Pa.

Hot Weather Diet.

A great many people pay little or no attention to the kind of diet they should adopt with the varying seasons and hot or cold weather eat food that they should not for the comfort and the welfare of the body. Especially is this true during the summer months, when a proper diet will materially assist in the avoidance of many of the discomforts of the heated term. Avoid heat producing foods, says Cooking Club. With good bread and butter, fruits and vegetables there is no need of overtaxing the system with meat and grease. And do not overeat. Don't force the appetite and overload the system. If you do not crave food there is something wrong with your general system, which requires something besides food. At such times try fasting in a limited degree. Put your stomach on short rations, and give the machinery a little rest. Appetite will take care of itself if the general system is in good condition. A good appetite is indicative of good health.

An Unpleasant Nuisance.

Flies are more detestable than mosquitoes. They mar whatever they touch and do not possess the merit of being sweet singers. A mosquito orchestra is not bad when one appreciates it. The desire of Mr. Fly to settle upon the whitest things in the house is his worst fault. In fly communities white shades are converted into dark blue or bottle green ones before spring is half over. The fly is the only universal beast. It is the unwelcome companion of man in every quarter of the globe and is equally at home in Alaska and the great desert. A ship may leave port without one on board, yet in mid-ocean an unseen spot on deck will attract a swarm. The fly seems to be born for the occasion.—New York Press.

NOW that the heat of summer is here thousands are realizing how low their ambition, vitality and resistive force has become.

They are easily exhausted, heat seems unusually oppressive, feel draggy—all fagged out. They feel the need of a tonic that will build them up from the very foundation; give them strength, life, activity.

Hagee's Cordial of Cod Liver Oil (with Hypophosphites) of Lime and Soda is an ideal summer tonic, a builder—revitalizer—reconstructive that physicians of all schools prescribe for these conditions. Pleasant to take. Contains all the active properties of cod liver oil without the grease.

NEARBY TOWNS

TO SHOOT THE WELL.

Mt. Vernon, O., July 29—The Homer Oil and Gas company will shoot the Patton well today. This well was to have been in a few days ago, but the hoie became crooked as the drill entered the sand. It is thought that after the shot the hole will be cleaned out and straightened so that drilling may be proceeded with.

PROBABLY FATALITY HURT.

Zanesville, O., July 29—O. F. Palmer, a prominent member of the local Retail Clerks' Union, fell through a cellar hole at the Loeb store while carrying a large box last evening and was perhaps fatally injured. He sustained a severe fracture of the skull, three ribs were broken and four others were torn loose. It is thought that he is also injured internally.

RUNAWAY RETURNS.

Canal Dover, O., July 29—After an absence of nearly two years, Russell Snyder has just returned home from a runaway trip which extended to Ogden, Utah, and covering most of the principal cities on the way. He left home in October, 1901, and worked his way slowly along, having never seen anyone he knew during the entire time he was away, in spite of the long search for him.

MRS. ADRIAN STOYLE.

Gambler, O., July 29—Mrs. Adrian Stoye, 24, who died at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Metcalf, was buried today at Oak Grove.

CONE SELECTED.

Millersburg, O., July 29—Professor J. S. Hunter, principal of the Millersburg high school, has sent in his resignation to the board. He will accept a similar position elsewhere at increased salary. John C. Cone of Hamilton, O., a graduate of Ohio State university, has been employed to take the principalship here.

LABOR DAY CIRCUIT.

Bellefontaine, O., July 29—Six cities have formed a circuit which will take their turn in holding an annual Labor day celebration. The cities in the circuit are Lima, Mansfield, Akron, Crest line, Bellefontaine and Kenton.

DELAWARE INJUNCTION.

Delaware, O., July 29—An injunction suit, intended as a test case, was filed against the new Delaware and Magnetic Springs interurban line by David D. Jones, who wants to prevent the road from passing in front of his farm without remuneration.

SUES FOR $10,000.

Columbus, O., July 29—The Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark Traction company is made defendant in a $10,000 damage suit brought by Chas. McEwen of Reynoldsburg. Mr. McEwen says that on May 9 he attempted to board a car on Mound and Fourth streets. He claims the conductor gave the signal to start and he was thrown to the pavement.

MADE THE TRIP ALONE.

Croton, O., July 29—Little Madge Green, 11 years old, came all the way from St. Louis, Mo., by herself last week to make her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Streeter, a visit.

BIG HAY CROP.

Croton, O., July 29—The farmers have just completed haying in this vicinity, and they report the largest yield and best quality there has been for several years.

In England, where automatic coupling of cars is yet unknown, 50,000 railway employees are killed or injured in 10 years in making couplings, as shown by reports of the Board of Trade. This offsets in a way the mortality for passengers, which is very much smaller than on our railroads.

NEW GLASS PLANT

At Utica, This County, Is to Be Started at Once Says a Special From Muncie, Ind.—Officers Elected By Company.

A dispatch from Muncie, Ind., says that work on the new glass factory at Utica, this county, is to start at once. The message follows:

Muncie, Ind., July 28—The stockholders of the new Utica (O.) Glass Company, Window Glass Company, at a meeting held in Muncie, elected a board of nine directors. They also elected the following officers: President, Samuel McKittrick, of Sandusky, O.; vice president, Thomas Backstone, of Dunkirk, Ind.; secretary, James Moorehouse of Muncie, Ind.

Work on the new factory will be started at once, and it is thought that it will be ready on operation before January 1 of next year. The company preferred purchasing one of the abandoned factories of the American Window Glass company, but when it was seen that the trustees refused to sell any of them the new company began to consider sites which were being offered by different cities. Several cities in West Virginia and fields made very strong bids for the factory and offered inducements for the new company to locate there.

BY CHRISTMAS

It is Said One May Ride from Newark to Zanesville in an Electric Railway Car.

Zanesville, July 29—And now comes the assurance from one high in power that the electric cars will be running between Newark and this city by Christmas day.

Going still further this authority states that limited trains will be run between Columbus and Zanesville that will make but one stop, and that at Newark. These trains, as stated in yesterday's issue are supposed to make the run in two hours and a half.

Track laying east of Newark has begun, and already over two miles of the steel is down, while at Black Hand the tunnel lacks but eighty feet of completion and the grading is well advanced.

THREE FIELD LINES.

One of the most active companies in the Knox-Licking field is the Homer Oil and Gas company, in which several Mt. Vernon men are interested. It has already drilled in a number of good wells, the latest being those on the Be-boul and Rinehart tracts. Those who are familiar with these two wells are very quiet on the capacity of the new ones, but it is said that they are better than the average. The company is now laying three new field lines, one in the east field and two on the Homer side.—Mt. Vernon Republican-News.

A BIRTHDAY GIFT
(Original)
The Count de Bonneville was sitting one morning at the breakfast table in his chateau near Paris. The count was a widower, and the opposite end of the table was occupied by his daughter Lizette, fifteen years old. There was a commotion without, and the butler announced that a poacher had been caught the night before and had been brought to the chateau. The count gave an order that the offender should be brought to him, and a young man of perhaps twenty was led in by the gamekeeper, backed by a gardener and a stable boy. The count questioned both the poacher and his accusers, and since he had been caught redhanded directed that he be taken to jail.
"Papa," said Lizette, "I have a favor to ask. Tomorrow is my birthday and you gave me the selection of my gift. I ask the forgiveness of this man."
The count, who had no wish to punish the poacher, except as a matter of duty, complied.
"Why did you kill papa's pheasants?" asked Lizette of the man.
"Because, mademoiselle, my mother is ill and needs dainty food. I have nothing else to give her."
"Take the birds you have shot," said the count, "and call on my butler for what else you need."
Ten years passed. France was in the throes of revolution. Each day the Paris prisons gave up a number of the crowds of aristocrats who filled them to be led out to the guillotine located in the Place de la Concorde. Paris was literally drunken with blood. As each cart was driven from the prison to the guillotine crowds of revolutionists followed, hooting and jeering the victims it contained.
One morning a cart was driven from the Conciergerie to the Place de la Concorde containing but two people, a white haired old man and his daughter, the Count de Bonneville and Lizette, the latter now a woman. As the cart was driven up to the guillotine a party near it were pouring a red liquid from a bucket into cups, drinking and singing a song in which the words wine and blood frequently occurred. Lizette held out her hands imploringly and begged them to spare her father and be content with her own life. They only hooted, and the two were taken from the cart and led up to the guillotine. Then a man in the crowd suddenly called out:
"What say you citizens? Shall the citizenship save the old man by drinking with us a cup of blood?"
"No, no!" cried some of the crowd. "Spare no aristocrats." "Yes, yes," cried others. "Let her drink what we drink."
Meanwhile the man who had proposed the draft filled one of the cups with the liquid from the bucket and, handing it to Lizette, said:
"Drink with us, citizenship. Wash out the blood of an aristocrat, become a commoner, and you and your father shall go from this wearing your heads on your shoulders."
The crowd laughed and jeered and howled as if each individual were a fiend and had been dispatched by Satan to represent him at this carnival. Several of the most violent pushed forward to stop this stay of death, but the man who held the cup waved them back with an air of authority.
"This girl is to become one of us," he said. "She will give us the hiding places of her fellow aristocrats and furnish a dozen heads for two. That's a good bargain! Six for one!"
"Drink!" he said, forcing the cup to Lizette's lips.
Lizette, with a shudder, seized it and, shutting her eyes, forced herself to drink every drop. Then she and her father were thrust into the cart and driven away, the man who had been the chief actor in the strange scene mounting the cart and taking the reins from the driver. For awhile it was doubtful whether the crowd would permit their departure, but a cartful of new victims driving up, the first were forgotten for the last. Ten minutes later the man who had saved Lizette and her father ordered the driver to get down. He did so, and the man drove on till they passed the barrier, where they all descended and stood a moment in the road.
"Now, M. le Comte and Mlle. de Bonneville, fly for your lives. This is the road to Boulogne. Travel by night and hide by day till you reach the coast, then take boat for England."
"Who am I to thank for our lives?" asked the count, "and why have you done this?"
"Do you remember years ago a poacher being brought before you when you sat at one end of the breakfast table and your daughter at the other?"
"No," replied the count; "I don't remember."
"It was the morning, mademoiselle, before your birthday. You chose for your gift my pardon."
"Now I remember," said Lizette.
"In return I give you for your next birthday your life and the life of your father."
Lizette, her eyes swimming with grateful tears, put out her hand.
"Was it only for this that you have returned so much?"
"The count gave me the birds for my dear mother."
"All this is very little for two lives. I wonder that you remembered us."
"That morning I took an image into my heart that I shall never forget."
Lifting her hand to his lips he kissed it fervently, and, turning, jumped up on the cart and drove back to Paris. The count and Lizette escaped to England. When they returned to France their preserver had been executed for the part he had taken in saving them.

DOUBLE WEDDING
Father and Daughter Marry Mother and Son at Adamsville—Quite a Romance Connected With the Event—Children as Conspirators.
Zanesville, O., July 29.—A double wedding took place at Adamsville this afternoon in which a father and daughter married a mother and son.
The marriage license docket reads as follows:
John V. Baker, laborer, 32, and Lucy B. Cowden, housekeeper, 37, both of Salem township.
Orville Cowden, farmer, 22, and Mary C. Baker, 19, daughter of John V. Baker, both of Salem township; Rev. J. S. Eaton officiated.
The story goes that the younger Baker refused to marry her lover on account of the lonely condition in which it would leave her father, who is a widower. The young man used all the arts of persuasion known to an ardent wooer, but to no avail. At last he confided his troubles in his mother. She laughingly suggested that she might marry the girl's father as a means of solving the problem.
The suggestion was made in jest, but the young man pondered over it. He mentioned it to his sweetheart and at last they decided that their parents should marry. They formed a plan of frequently throwing their parents in each other's company. The mother forgot the jest and the father was unsuspecting of any design on the part of the young people.
After eight months of scheming and planning the young people were rewarded one day when their elders announced that they had decided to join their lives and fortunes. Today the double wedding took place.

AN ALL-WHITE TOILET.
All-white toilettes seem to grow more popular with every one as the costume is of oyster-white satin cloth. The bolero waist is elaborated with medallions, also velvet and cord ornaments which are now playing such an important part on women's gowns. The cuffs and belt are of velvet, and the medallions appear also on the sleeves. The inverted box-plaited skirt is securely stitched with Corticelli stitching silk and just below the stitching are arranged medallions in graduated sizes. The skirt which clings about the upper part of the figure flares at the bottom and has a slight sweep.

The great American trouble is indigestion, largely a result of the great American habit of hurry.
Hastily swallowed meals are probably the greatest cause of indigestion. The stomach is given more than its share of work and is weakened. The first thing to do in correcting the trouble is to stop fast eating. The next thing is to take a good digestive tonic to strengthen the digestion and enrich the impoverished blood.
Such a tonic is Walther's Peptonized Port, a simple combination of pure pepsin and good port wine, to be had at F. D. Hall's drug store.

SPORTS

FRIDAY'S GAME WILL SURELY BE A HUMMER.

Both Teams at Practice—Lancaster Here Saturday and Sunday—Gun Club Shoot Tomorrow.

It can be truthfully said that no game played this season by local amateurs, has attracted the attention and comment that is noticeable concerning the great game to be played at Idlewild park next Friday between teams representing the Advocate and American-Tribune.

There is no line of business which develops partisan spirit like a newspaper, and this spirit is now rampant. Every one thinks his favorite newspaper is the best published, and this feeling we find extends to baseball teams representing the two daily papers. The consequence is that the crowd next Friday will be intensely partisan and this will but lend to the excitement of the contest.

The Newspaper Teams Practice.

Idlewild baseball park was a busy place Tuesday afternoon, as members of each of the newspaper teams were out to practice, which was very satisfactory at least to one office. It may be possible that the members of the American-Tribune team had orders from coach and trainer, Editor Homer Stivers, to do what they did in order to throw the opposition off their guard as to their real merits as ball players. This interpretation is at least charitable to the players, and the only explanation of some of the stunts performed by them, in which Frank Belman, Hixon, Cripps, Deedham and others "starred." It is inconceivable that Belman would use some parts of his anatomy to stop grounders that he did use, of his own volition. We know Frank's mental calibre better than that. He knows as well as anyone that players stop grounders with their hands, and with their faces to the stand.

Hixon knows better than to throw himself headlong in front of an easy bouncer and while lying prone attempt to throw the ball out of the lot. Cripps has absorbed more intelligence around a newspaper office than to attempt to put a man out by giving him a friendly slap on the back with his open and empty hand, the ball having eluded his frantic grasp.

No, we can easily distinguish the finesse of steady Stivers in giving orders to these players to "throw off" in practice.

The Advocate gang refrained from expressing their jubilation at the grounds but as they sat around their "ran" in the rear room after coming from the park, there was a certain nonchalance about the manner in which they breached foam, and a complacency in the way they munched their crackers that plainly showed they had penetrated the foxy coach's scheme.

DISAGREEABLE REFLECTIONS

The mirror never flatters; it tells the truth, no matter how much it may hurt the pride or how humiliating and disagreeable the reflections. A red, rough skin is fatal to beauty, and blackheads, blotches and pimples are ruinous to the complexion, and no wonder such desperate efforts are made to hide these blemishes, and cover over the defects, and some never stop to consider the danger in skin foods, face lotions, soaps, salves and powders, but apply them vigorously and often without regard to consequences, and many complexions are ruined by the chemicals and poisons contained in these cosmetics.

Skin diseases are due to internal causes, to humors and poisons in the blood, and to attempt a cure by external treatment is an endless, hopeless task. Some simple wash or ointment is often beneficial when the skin is much inflamed or itches, but you can't depend upon local remedies for permanent relief, for the blood is continually throwing off impurities which irritate and clog the glands and pores of the skin, and as long as the blood remains unhealthy, just so long will the eruptions last. To effectually and permanently cure skin troubles the blood must be purified and the system thoroughly cleansed and built up, and S. S. S., the well known blood purifier and tonic, is acknowledged superior to all other remedies for this purpose. It is the only guaranteed strictly vegetable blood remedy. It never deranges the system or impairs the digestion like Potash and Arsenic and drugs of this character, but aids in the digestion and assimilation of food and improves the appetite. Being a blood purifier and tonic combined, the humors and poisons are counteracted and the blood made rich and pure, and at the same time the general health and system is rapidly built up and good health is established, and this, after all, is the secret of a smooth, soft skin and beautiful complexion.

If you have any skin trouble send for our free book, "The Skin and Its Diseases." No charge for medical advice. Write us about your case.

Lancaster Saturday and Sunday.

The strong Lancaster team will be at Idlewild Park next Saturday and Sunday for games with the local team, and it is certain that good crowds will attend the games as it will be remembered that there is an intense rivalry between the two clubs. On their last visit to this city the Lancaster team broke even losing the first game by a score of 2 to 1 and winning the second. Both games were well played and thoroughly enjoyed by those who saw them.

The Fairfield county champions are anxious to take one or both from the Idlewild team, and the locals are just as determined to clinch their claim to superiority by winning the two which will give them a big lead for the state championship which they are confident of winning for their team.

The Lancaster boys are fine players thorough gentlemen both on the field and off, and put ginger and snap into their play which makes the game interesting and exciting.

Don't forget that Lancaster plays Saturday and Sunday at Idlewild park.

Doheny Deserts Pirates.

Cincinnati, July 29—Pitcher Ed Doheny, one of Pittsburgh's best twirlers, has deserted his team, thereby badly crippling the Pirates.

Doheny has been acting strangely for some time, and his action today demonstrates that he is mentally deranged.

He has been laboring under the impression that detectives have been constantly following him, and today told Manager Clark that he could not stand it.

It is thought that the heat has upset Doheny's mind.

Licking Gun Club.

The Licking Gun Club will hold a shoot at the club grounds, Thursday afternoon July 30th, at 2 o'clock. At a business meeting held last Monday evening it was decided to hold a shoot every two weeks on Thursdays. All shooters are invited to attend.

DR. COOPER FINED.

Dennison, O., July 29—Dr. Cooper was fined $100 and costs by Mayor Dalling of Uhrichsville for practicing medicine without a license.

LANCASTER NOTES.

Lancaster, O., July 29—Mayor S. W. Rainey vetoed the ordinance passed by the council granting a ten year franchise to the Postal Telegraph and Cable company. This is the first time the mayor has used his veto power.

He says that he thinks the city should get something in return for the franchise.

The Hocking Valley passenger station and section house at Rockbridge, south of this place, were burned to the ground Tuesday afternoon. The buildings were fired by a spark from a passing train.

MODERN MEDICAL SCIENCE.

It would not be easy to find elsewhere so comprehensive and popular a resume of the triumphs of modern medical science as the opening article in The Booklovers Magazine for August, by an eminent Philadelphia physician Dr. Joseph Walsh. The article is made doubly interesting by the numerous portraits of men who have stood at the turnings of medical advance, from Lord Lister, pioneer of antiseptics in surgery, to Walter Reed, discoverer of the mosquito's agency in yellow fever.

There are thousands of bicycles being sold this season through the Southern states, where the bicycle craze has struck the negroes, and the wheel has almost been abandoned by the whites.

The Minnetonka, built at Cleveland for seacoast trade, being longer than the locks in the Welland canal, was dry-docked at the head of the St. Lawrence system and cut in two. The rear half steamed through the canal while the forward half was towed.

The Medic's ... Story

[Original.]

There were four of us, medical students, rooming on the same floor and all given to story telling. Waterhouse excelled in fabulous adventure and always maintained that it really happened. The most remarkable of his stories was this:

"I am going to tell you something tonight," he said, "that happened to me several weeks ago. I had it on my mind since then, but a certain feeling of delicacy has prevented my saying anything about it. One night, or rather morning, I was walking in the upper part of the city, in a street where the houses stand back some distance from the sidewalk, the front space being given up to gardens. The street was still as a cemetery, and my footsteps sounded marvelously loud. I had just passed a church which stood on the opposite side of the street when suddenly the bell struck 1. I started as though some one had hit me. I must have gone through some singular physical process, for, when I pulled myself together at the iron gateway inclosing one of the gardens in front of which I had stopped, a girl stood leaning forward and beckoning to me.

"Oh, sir," she said, "come with me. There are men in the house who are trying to get my aunt to go with them to a lunatic asylum. She is not insane. I assure you she is not."

"She opened the gate as she spoke and I followed her up a stone walk to the front door, which stood ajar, into a dimly lighted hall and upstairs. Throwing open a bedroom door, there sat a lady in a wrapper trimmed with lace, while before her stood a man who, as I went in, finished a sentence he was speaking with these words: 'I shall have to use force, and that I don't want to do.' The moment I entered he and the lady both looked at me, the man surprised, the woman appealingly. The young lady stood beside me trembling.

"Have you any authority, sir," I said, "for being in this house at this hour?"

"Whether I have or not," he replied, "I am not accountable to you and decline to produce it."

"Very well, sir. Since you refuse to show a warrant for the removal of this lady I will trouble you to take your departure."

"The man looked irritated at being interfered with in carrying out a purpose that might or might not be legitimate. If I had any doubt that it was, illegitimate the pleading look of both the women, and especially that of the younger, removed it at once.

"Come, sir," I said. "I am waiting. Leave this room."

"I will see you in the hall," he replied.

"He came toward me. I stepped back into the hall. The girl went into the room, and I closed the door.

"The lady is an insane patient," he said, "and I am trying to get her away without attracting the attention of her neighbors."

"I happen to be a medical man," I replied, "and know that in such cases the order of a court or board of lunatics inquiring is needed. Produce it, and I will not interfere with you."

"He looked puzzled as to what course to follow, then, quick as a flash, drew a revolver and leveled it at me. I was unarmed and at a great disadvantage, but I knew the man dreaded to attract attention, and relying on this I sprang for him, knocking up his revolver as I did so, and, seizing it, twisted it out of his hand and threw it downstairs. Singularly enough, it didn't explode.

Then, taking him by the collar, I hustled him after his revolver, put him out at the front door and closed it with a bang. Then I called to the young lady, who came down, followed by her aunt, and both gave vent to expressions of gratitude."

The speaker stopped as though his story was finished.

"Waterhouse," I remarked, "where do you get the starters for these yarns?"

"You don't believe me?"

"I believe you are romancing."

He stepped to his study table, opened a drawer and took out a revolver, which he handed me, telling me to look at a silver plate on the butt, on which was inscribed, "John Burnes, St. L. Asylum For the Insane."

I looked up at Waterhouse thunder-struck. "The pistol you threw downstairs?"

"Yes."

"Rot!" said one of the party. "Waterhouse came into possession of the revolver in some ordinary way and made up his yarn about it."

"No," said another. "When the clock in the church tower struck the hour the shock, acting on his heart, produced a suspension of its action for a fraction of a second. During this time he dreamed it all."

"How could he dream a revolver?" I suggested.

Waterhouse made no effort to convince us of the truth of his story, but, taking up the gun, went for beer.

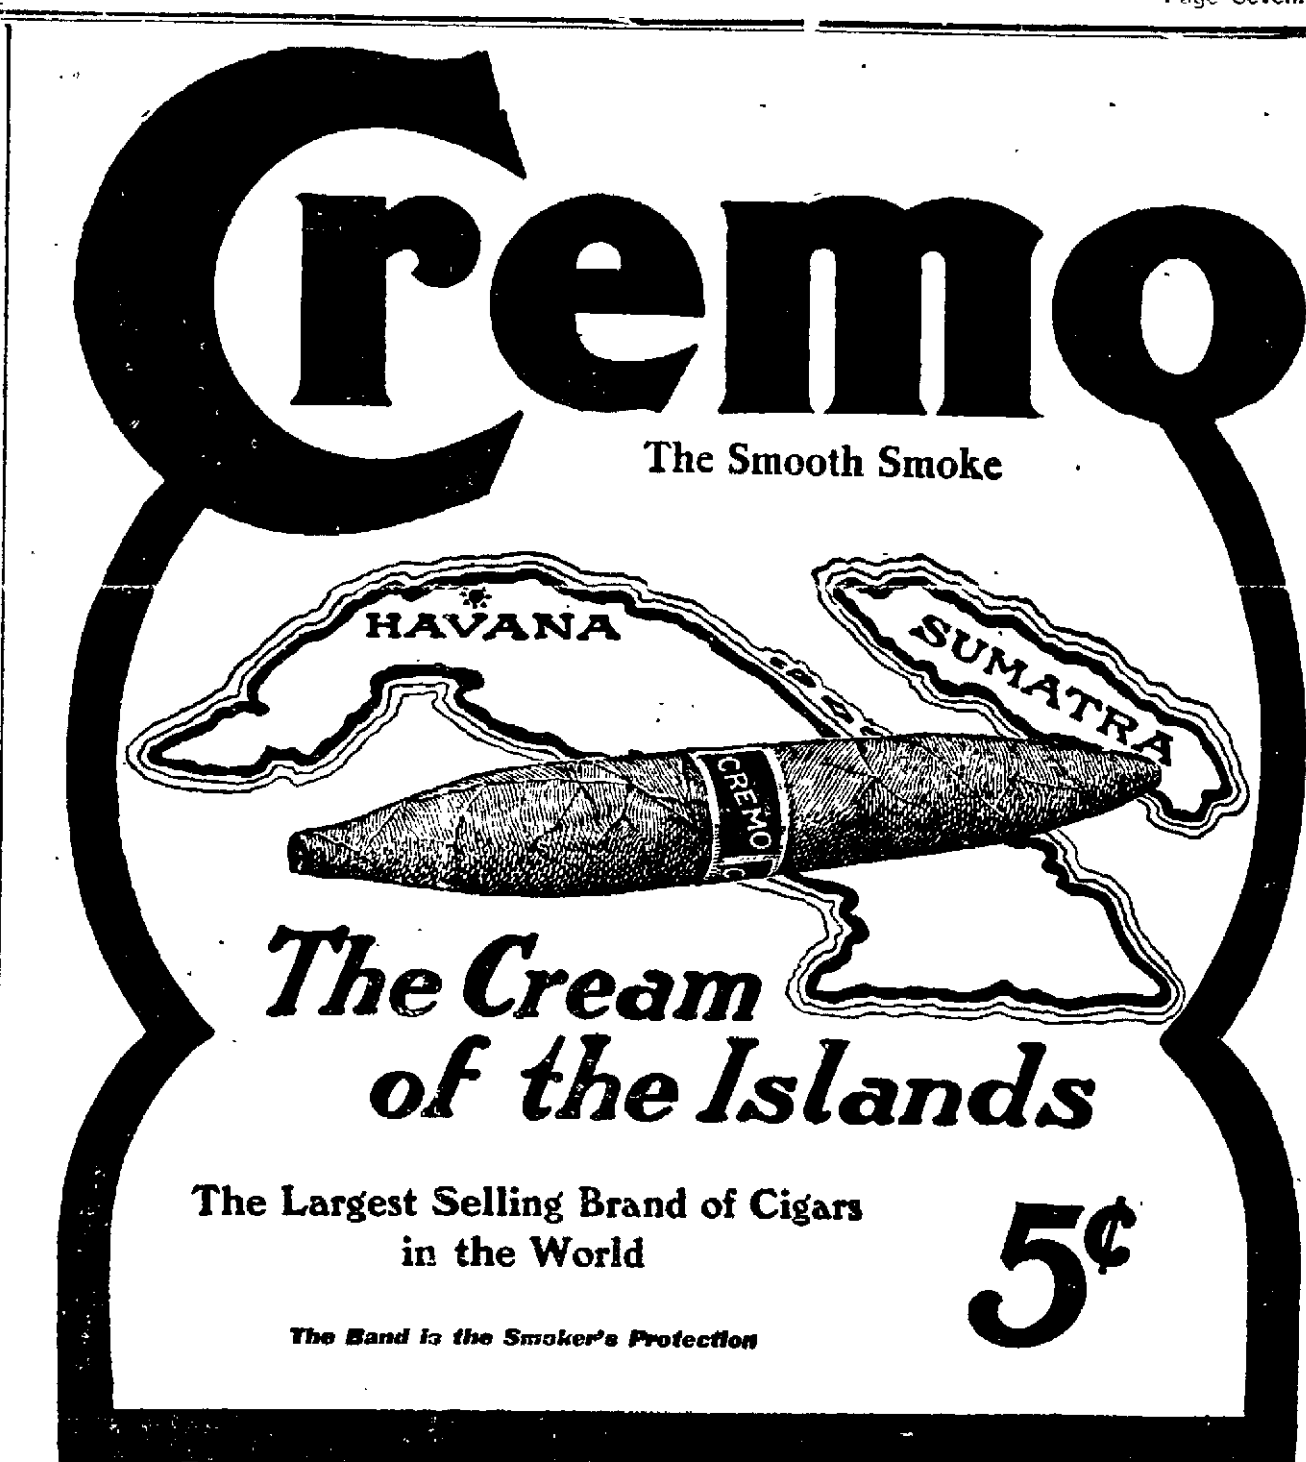

I had been gradually and had practiced some years when I received Waterhouse's wedding cards. Since he was one of our own set I went a hundred miles to the wedding.

"Where did you go to meet?" I asked at the wedding breakfast.

The pair cast a meaning glance at each other.

"At the garden gate," replied the groom. "This is the girl whose aunt I saved from being taken back to an asylum. My interference was justified, for the cause of the trouble had been removed and she had recovered. Nevertheless the man who wished to take her was only doing his duty."

Low Rate Excursion to Atlantic City, N. J., and Other Seaside Resorts.

In order to give its patrons an opportunity to visit the seashore at a nominal cost, the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company will sell low rate excursion tickets to Atlantic City, Ocean City, Cape May and Sea Isle City, N. J., and Ocean City, Md., on Thursday, July 30, 1903.

Atlantic City, N. J., the most popular of the hundred or more resorts along the Atlantic Coast, is pronounced the finest watering place in the world. The great American Seashore Resort has kept pace with the times and prospered. The hotels have grown in number and size. Prosperity and popularity are with it.

The surf bathing which has made Atlantic City famous is one of the wonders of the world. The sight during bathing hours defies description; men, women and children in bathing costumes of various hues form a picture only to be seen at Atlantic City.

Aside from the seaside features, Atlantic City has amusements of every kind. Great iron piers extend hundreds of feet into the ocean. Each pier has its summer theatre and band stand, and for a nominal price one can enjoy the comfortable chairs of the pier and listen to the music of the bands throughout the entire day, if he so wills it.

The proximity of Atlantic City to all the big central and western cities, by reason of the excellent through train service of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, makes it the resort of the masses.

Tickets will be available on all regular trains, and will be good for return twelve days, including date of sale, thus giving ample time for an enjoyable outing. Stop-over within limit of ticket will be allowed at Philadelphia, Pa., and Washington, D. C., on return trip.

A Woman Fell at the Ludlow Hotel on Tuesday Night, Sustaining Some Severe Injuries.

A serious accident occurred at the Hotel Ludlow Tuesday evening about 8:30 o'clock the victim being the wife of a Columbus traveling man, who was with her husband on this trip and is stopping with him at the Ludlow.

The woman started for the toilet room on the second floor, and mistaking the door stepped into an open stairway, and fell down the flight of steps to the first floor. She was taken to her room and it was found that her left shoulder was broken and her legs severely bruised, and it may be that she suffered internal injuries, although Dr. D. M. Smith, who attended the patient hardly thinks that this is the case.

The injured woman will be taken to her home in Columbus, by her husband on Wednesday, or as soon as possible.

TWO SHOTS

Fired Simultaneously Resulted in a
Double Tragedy—Each Bullet Hit
Its Mark.

Sargent, Ky., July 29.—A singular double tragedy was enacted on top of Black Mountain, 10 miles southeast of here on the border of Kentucky and Virginia Tuesday.

For months George McDaniels, of Letcher county, had been eluding the officers of the two states and running a "blind tiger" resort on the border. The citizens of Stonoga, Va., had become incensed and warrants were sworn out for McDaniels' arrest. The papers were placed in Chief of Police James Kings' hands. Refusing to accept any aid to effect McDaniels' arrest, King went alone to the "blind tiger." He demanded McDaniels' surrender. McDaniels responded by firing a revolver at the officer. Simultaneously King fired a Winchester rifle at close range. When the smoke cleared away King lay dead in the shanty, a ball having pierced his abdomen. Almost lifeless by his side lay McDaniels, a Winchester ball having passed through his forehead. He cannot possibly recover. Mrs. Lottie Hogg and her daughter, Birdie, were the only witnesses to the double tragedy.

THE LARGER FOOT.

See if This Shoe Salesman's Theory Fits Your Case.

"The question of which foot to fit first is an important one to us," said the shoe salesman. "It may seem strange to you, but it is rarely that we do not experience some trouble in fitting one foot while the other is easily covered. A popular belief obtains that the left foot of every person is the hardest to fit, and consequently many shoe clerks always try a shoe on that foot first. It is not true, however, according to my observation, that there is any inflexible rule as to which foot to try first. It is true, nevertheless, that in a majority of cases if you succeed in fitting the left foot you will have no trouble with the right. My practice is to try both feet before I pronounce a pair of shoes a perfect fit. Then I am sure of avoiding any mistake growing out of peculiarities of foot formation. No two persons have feet formed exactly alike, and the shoe salesman who thinks so and is governed accordingly will meet with many complaints.

"For some time I pondered over the problem of fitting shoes to feet, and especially as to why the left foot should be considered the standard by which to be governed. The only rational theory I have ever been able to evolve is a very simple one when you come to consider it. Nine out of ten persons you meet are right handed, as we say. About one person in ten, or perhaps the per cent is even less than that, uses his left hand. If you will observe persons who use the right hand when they are standing and talking they invariably rest their weight on the left foot. And, vice versa, a left handed person will rest his or her weight on the right foot. The result is that with right handed persons the left foot is probably a fraction larger than the right foot, and the shoe clerk must inevitably find this to be a fact sooner or later."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

STOCK MARKET

New York, July 29.—The stock market today showed only a little hesitation at the opening. The slight feverishness that prevailed was a reflection of the apprehension of failures in London, which was allayed by the announcement of the unimportant character of the suspensions which took place at the settlement. The speculation here soon developed a strong tone and numerous advances of 1 per cent and over followed. Southern Pacific rose 1 5/8 on the belief that the Union Pacific interests had secured control of the stock formerly held by Mr. Keene. Other strong features were Erie first and second New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio preferred, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific. In the industrial list Amalgamated copper advanced 1 3/8.

STOCKS ON UP GRADE.

New York, July 29.—With nearly every active stock on the list showing an advance and a distinctly more hopeful feeling all along the line, there is reason to believe the bottom has been reached.

There was a notable absence of ugly rumors in the market. Rumors were chiefly concerned with conferences at which stocks held by the houses that forced the suspension were taken over by syndicates formed for that purpose. It was said Kuhn, Loeb & Co. took up the Southern Pacific stock of T. J. Taylor & Co., at 41. Another story was that the Hooley interests had been bid for at $50 a share.

Taylor & Co., Stow & Co., and E. S. Hooley & Co. are not prepared to make a public statement.

Jacob H. Schiff of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., said: "I think matters are gradually readjusting themselves. I am confident all serious danger is at an end."

A. Barton Hepburn, former controller of the currency at Washington, now vice president of the Chase National bank, said:

"General business conditions are excellent, the crops are so munificent that it will be impossible to produce anything like a financial or commercial crisis, and people will have ample opportunity to put their houses in order. Those who fail to heed the warning with which the atmosphere is charged at this time will surely come to grief."

Isaac N. Seligman of J. and W. Seligman & Co., said:

"The feeling of hopelessness that prevailed has been dispelled and investment orders for high class securities have come from strong parties."

"Fully $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 of European capital has been sent here for investment within the past week."

"If there be any squeeze during the next two months the treasury department will offer prompt relief to legitimate financial interests."

NEWARK BOOMING.

Prospect for Unprecedented Growth the Coming
Year--New Factories, Electric Roads, Natural Gas The Cause of the Happy Condition.

The outlook for the continued growth and development of Newark is exceedingly bright.

Never before has the prospect for an increased population been so good as it is today.

The indications are that Newark will within the next year make greater strides than she has ever made and all signs point to unprecedented development. Here are a few reasons for these assertions.

In the first place hundreds of men are now engaged in building in West Newark the largest stove foundry in the world. One immense building that was not on the original plat is now going up on the Wehrle ground and it can be positively said that Mr. William Wehrle will not only carry out his contract with the Newark Board of Trade but will do more than he promised to do. While Mr. Wehrle is not saying just now how large the stove foundry will be, unquestionably the mammoth plant will add several thousand people to the city's population.

As recently announced in this paper, the Edward H. Everett company is now adding a new tank to its already immense glass plant in north Newark. This additional factory will give employment to 120 more glass blowers or about 500 more people. This addition means an increase in population of probably 1600 or more.

Senator Wm. E. Miller, who is receiver for the Newark Iron and Steel company, is making some marked improvements in the West Newark plant and these improvements are to be followed by an increase in working force.

The Newark Furniture factory, one of Newark's newest industries, is now employing over 50 men and the indications are that before long the force will be doubled.

The completion of the new car barn and repair shop of the Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark Traction company, at the corner of West Church and Twelfth streets, in the near future will mean that over 150 men employed as motormen and conductors, and in other capacities by the interurban company, will make Newark their home. This will add several hundred people to the population of Newark.

The extension of the Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark Traction company's line to Zanesville which will be finished probably by the middle or latter part of December, will bring many people to Newark from the eastern part of the county, just as the Columbus-Newark line brings residents of the western end of the county.

The indications are good for the construction of an electric line between Newark and Mt. Vernon which would be of inestimable benefit to Newark.

The improvement of the Newark and Granville electric road has resulted in increased traffic and Newark merchants are enjoying an increased patronage of Granville people.

While the Wehrle company and the Everett company are now spending thousands of dollars in the erection of new factories here, giving employment to Newark labor so far as possible, the Newark and Granville street railway company is expending a vast sum of money in the improvement of its system. While it is annoying to have the streets torn up, it is a great satisfaction to know that the city lines are being put in admirable condition so that when the work is done this fall Newark will have a model street car system.

Another item that is contributing to the prosperity of Newark is the big Licking county gas field north of this city. Many thousands of acres of land are under lease and the land owners are receiving no insignificant sum for the leases. A prominent Utica man said to the Advocate the other day that he never saw such a prosperous condition of the farmers of northern Licking county. "They all have money," said he, "and it is due to the big gas find."

Utica is soon to have a glass factory. While this is of special benefit to Utica it will do Newark no harm by any means as the employees will come to Newark and will spend much money here.

Idlewild Park is being extensively advertised all over Central Ohio and is drawing many visitors to the city. All of them spend money here. The same is true of Buckeye Lake park and Newark profits by that as a large part of the provisions, etc., consumed there are purchased in this city.

The improvement of the B. & O. railroad has led to increased business on that system. It has meant an increased force of men and constant employment for the railway men of Newark—a decidedly important factor.

The growth of Denison university at Granville is another splendid thing for Newark. The recent increase in endowment of a quarter of a million and the further increase that is about to be made for the erection of four more buildings and the repair of the dormitories means much for this city. It will result in an increased number of students many of whom leave money with Newark merchants. A Newark man has just received a $3000 contract for furnishings for the Denison dormitories.

One might go on and recite further evidences of the bright future Newark has in store but this is enough for the present.

The increased population means that there will be a demand for more houses and that business in Newark will continue to be good.

Newark is the best town in Ohio today. Keep that fact constantly before your mind. When you have a dollar or two to spend, spend it in Newark. The stores here are equal to those in surrounding cities and the values are as good, if not better. If you spend a dollar here you may get a piece of it back some time, but if it goes to another city you may as well say good bye forever. We need the money, so keep it in town as far as possible.

A. H. HEISEY & CO.

RESUME OPERATIONS NEXT MONDAY.

The extensive table ware glass factory of A. H. Heisey & Co., in the East End will resume operations in all departments next Monday morning. As is usual, due to removals from the city and other causes, there are always better opportunities for securing employment there at "the beginning of a fire." So this week the firm is being called on by men, boys and girls anxious to secure employment with them. This firm has brought both Newark and Ohio into prominence as glass manufacturing centers, as they are known throughout the country as the makers of the best glass that is made. And as they pay the highest wages going and furnish constant employment, it is but little wonder that all who can are anxious to secure a job at Heisey's. Very extensive additions to the plant have been made during the short month that they have been idle.

Effie Harter has sued William Beckford on a paternity charge and the defendant in default of $400 bail was committed to the county jail by Squire J. R. Atcherley. Charles L. Flory is attorney for the prosecuting witness.

There is no route around the world in which railway and steamship lines make an effort at close connection. The matter of a through or, rather, a circular ticket and connected time table is now being considered by companies which expect to make the time for the circuit 45 days.

EXPLOSION

Wrecks Number of Houses

Details of the Lowell Disaster.

Lowell, Mass., July 29.—Two magazines belonging to the United States Cartridge company exploded today and killed at least eleven persons and injured 40 to 50 more or less seriously. Fifteen others are reported missing. The explosion completely wiped out seven dwelling houses, seven others being destroyed by fire, which followed the explosion and 21 other houses were practically ruined. Five boys in the river swimming were killed. They were John Galloway, William McDermott, Michael Rogers, William Flynn, and James Reynolds.

Catherine Riggs who occupied the house nearest the magazine, was killed. Teamsters were loading dynamite to convey it to the cartridge works and it is supposed the explosion was caused by their carelessness. The drivers are among the missing.

The horses attached to the trucks were blown to atoms. A girl aged seven had her head blown off. The names of a few of the injured at the hospitals are: Clarence Goodwin, U. S. Cartridge Co.; James Grady, Chas. Richards, Almed Belange, Robt. Riggs, Henry E. McDermott, Albert C. Lebrand, Mrs. D. Gilneau, Mrs. Josephine Pelletier, Tessie McDermott, Ephraim Parrouz.

Four local companies of the state militia were ordered out to assist in maintaining order and protecting property. Most of the victims are suffering from broken limbs and cuts from flying glass.

President Paul Buller and Superintendent Hoxey said that all they knew about the matter was that their foreman, Charles Goodwin, with three men was sent to the magazines to do some work. Goodwin was picked up on the road from the magazine and taken to the hospital. An effort is being made to learn from him what had occurred, but he is unable to talk.

The Face of the Ruler.
In England a subject if he wishes to have a portrait of his majesty must buy one. In France every peasant and artisan is compelled to look upon that of the president each time he votes at an election or marries a wife or registers a birth in the mairie. The first act of the minister of the interior after the election of a new president is to request him to have his portrait taken, that it may be reproduced and exhibited in the 40,000 communes of France and Algeria.—London Chronicle.

World's Fair Motor Chair.
The roller chair of Chicago fame will not be found at the St. Louis exposition. In its stead will be a light electric motor chair, said to be so simple in its design that it can be easily guided and managed. The most important feature is the guard rail on the sides of the chair. This is connected with the operating mechanism and is so sensitive that the chair is brought to a sudden standstill as soon as the guard rail comes in contact with anything.

Freight Cars.
The cost of a standard freight car is $750 with wooden underwork and $1,000 for steel underframe. The standard car is 36 feet long, 8 by 8 1/2 feet inside measure. The capacity is from 60,000 to 100,000 pounds. The life is from ten to twelve years. The cost of a standard locomotive is $10,000 to $12,000; weight on wheels, 170,000 pounds; tank capacity, 6,000 gallons; coal bin, ten to twenty tons capacity.

HALF HOLIDAY PLAN.

Zanesville, O., July 29.—H. H. Sturtevant and A. S. Senhouser recently announced that they would close their stores on Friday afternoon of each week during July, August and September.

The retail grocers had previously adopted Thursday afternoon as a regular half-holiday, however, and a committee of the grocers waited upon Messrs. Sturtevant and Senhouser and they accordingly changed their half holiday to Thursday, making it more uniform.

It is now probable that all merchants in the city will adopt the Thursday half holiday plan.
